THOMAS H. ROSSBOTTOM

Thomas H. Rossbottom, new manager of the United States Lines, which will run vessels formerly operated by the United States Mail company. Mr. Rossbottom obtained a leave of absence of three months as vice president and general manager of the Panama Steamship and Railroad companies from John W. Weeks, secretary of war, under whom the government companies are operated.

Publish it not in the streets of Asen nor whisper it to old Mrs. Grundy, but Dan Cupid finds a way even in the prosaic jungles of lower Manhattan to provide youthful lovers with a place to spoon, observes a New York Sun writer. The top of a Fifth avenue bus may do for those who are hardened to the ways of the great city, but there are some, indeed many, who just can't say sweet nothings to each other with the rest of the international world looking on.

For these kind, architects have provided a quiet spot in practically every office building in New York, and it only remained for the sweet young things to find it. They have.

It's a fact that the average New Yorker, business man or woman, messenger or stenographer, has no use for the stairway. They, he or she, ride in the elevator, even if it's only one floor. As a result, the stairways have all the seclusion of a quiet nook, hours away from Broadway on the sunny side of a hill, only the light in most stairways is provided by a few candle power globe of varying degree of incandescence, depending upon the cobwebs. And as a trysting spot, well, there was evidence in some that they were also used as a place in which to enjoy a little lunch, while discussing the proposition to begin housekeeping in a little flat up Harlem way, or out in Brooklyn. The evidence being crumbs, cigarette ashes, and an occasional hair.

ASSERTS HE HEARD SHERMAN

Civil War Veteran Was Present When Famous Soldier Declared That "War Is Hell."

John Koolbeck, seventy-nine, the only living man who heard Gen. William T. Sherman's famous exclamation, "War is hell," now lives in Denver with his grandson, John Koolbeck. Before his death General Sherman tried to recall the incident of the utterance, but failed. John Koolbeck remembers where, when, why and how the statement was made. He tells the story.

After Vicksburg, Joe Jackson remained across the Pearl river at Jackson, Miss. Sherman was in command of our army. I was with Gen. F. Winslow as aide-de-camp. My regiment was the Fourth Iowa cavalry. We were after the enemy and the infantry had just gone over the wooden bridge across Pearl river.

General Sherman sat on his horse at the edge of the river, apparently in thought. Just as the cavalry started over, the hoofs of the horses clattered against the loose planks. Sherman looked up and called out to us, "Boys, war is hell!"

"I was at the head of the line with Winslow. So I heard him clearly. Sympathy for his tired troops prompted him."

General Winslow and all other members of his staff are dead. Mr. Koolbeck was the youngest of the party—Denver Times.

Has at Least One Virtue.

Whatever else may be said about Charles Holmes, negro, no one can say he is not frank.

Holmes, recently convicted on a charge of burglary, appeared for sentence before Superior Judge Harold Underback.

"Holmes, what did you do for a big before you got into this trouble?" asked the court.

"Jes' stealin' and gamblin', Mistah Judge," answered the defendant. "Jes' stealin' and gamblin', sir, and Ah was a modest proficient and professional both lines."

"Your frankness is refreshing," remarked the court, and gave the defendant an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Even though the world is now for democracy, it isn't a good idea to sass a traffic cop.

Auto Matches Jewels.

For the benefit of your wife, you might tell her that, if she wants it, many of the automobile manufacturers will have her 1921 car match her jewels. This is a fact in many sections of the East, where amethysts, garnets, topaz, sapphire and other colors are used in the upholstery, tops and the body made to correspond. In this way your wife will know that her jewels harmonize with the car. Of course, if she hasn't the jewels, she can order the car as she wants it, and then buy the jewels to match.—Chicago Tribune.

Playing Safe.

The firm of Hansen & Fransen was started in war-time and did very well for a couple of years. But last year things were on the downward grade, and the other day, when the two partners had finished making up their home too good record for the year, Hansen said, "This would make any one thoughtful. Now that the good times are over, how about a little honest business?"

"No, thanks," said Fransen. "I never indulge in experiments." —Houston Post.

POMONA NEWS.

Is Pomona dead? No, Pomona is very much alive. The Union Congregational church celebrated the day of thanks on Sunday, Nov. 20, in an appropriate manner. The church was beautifully decorated with fruit and flowers. The music was well selected to the day and the sermon

New carpet, shades for the windows, curtain for choir, with new finish on the wood work make almost a new church. At the "rally day" of the church school a large number were in attendance, and an appropriate program was well rendered.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH HAD A BRIGHT IDEA

You remember the episode of the rainy day, when he threw his cloak into a puddle that the good queen might cross without getting wet feet and perhaps the flu. That was advertising. Sir Walter had a message of import to her majesty. He wanted a hearing. He got it—by a courteous and ingenious method of attracting favorable attention. It was another case of advertising that paid both ways.

Business today is metaphorically throwing its cloak before you. It seeks your favorable attention. It uses its most effective method of capturing it—advertising. Day after day it caters to your tastes, and your desires through advertising.

The men who advertise in this paper believe that if they succeed in getting their messages across to you, you will often be interested and sometimes inspired with a little of their own enthusiasm for their wares.

Advertising will help you. Whether you realize it or not, advertising is a big vital force in your life. Through it, American genius and American manufacturers are putting within your reach the many boons of modern life.

Advertising keeps your information up to date on every article of human need, whether food, clothing, articles of household utility, necessities or luxuries.

Advertisers deserve your support. The queen knighted Sir Walter.

Both packing houses are rushing their work, which means happiness and contentment to many people.

The Sheppard packing house opened last week with Mr. Rogers as foreman.

Mr. Peter Peterson, near Lake Echo, fell from an orange tree on his farm and sustained some severe bruises, but no bones were broken, and they and we are giving thanks.
